1. Today I received a call from the DDA and the Comptroller having to do with the [REDACTED] briefing. Both of them said that we must spur the developer on to get [REDACTED] cost estimates by 1 November or at least by the first week of November in order to get them included in the 90/91 budget. Our estimates should be as precise as possible and include all costs--communications, ADP, security, etc. We should err, if necessary, on the high side. Again, I emphasize that we must identify the costs by the first of November lest we lose out on the inclusion [REDACTED] in the 90/91 budget. Please keep me advised of your progress.

2. If we provide any additional briefings on the status of [REDACTED] as we did to the DDA yesterday, please invite the Comptroller to attend. If it turns out that there are, in fact, no briefings scheduled by the end of September, then let's reconsider the possibility of having a special briefing for the Comptroller. Again, let me know what develops.
